Special Edition on Community Empowerment, Coping Resilience and Hope

CONTENTS

Guest Editorial

Articles:

1. Sustainability and Community Empowerment in Disaster Management
   Rajeev. M.M
   207-212

2. From Individual Empowerment to Social Movement: Drought Management for Ecological Restoration
   Fr. Joseph, D'souza SJ, Fr. Siju Varghese SJ
   213-219

3. Building Resilient Communities through Culturally Dynamic Partnerships
   Narayan Gopalkrishnan
   220-227

4. Community Policing for Conflict Resolution and Community Resilience
   Vinita Pandey
   228-233

5. The Global Public Good and the Opportunity Cost: Is There a Choice for the Marginalised? Hope?
   Jamalludin Sulaiman
   234-238

6. Building Effective Outcomes within the Community – Case Study in the Field of Disabilities
   Palani Thevar, Venkat Pulla
   239-243

7. Social Work with the Elderly: A Rural Study
   Kaushalendra Pratap Singh
   244-249

8. Building Family Resilience- A Social Work Approach
   Rajeev S P, Diston Kunjachan
   250-255

9. Locating Spaces for Standards and Competencies in Care: Evaluating Child Care and Protection Services
   Anita Rego, Neela Dabir, Kamini Kapadia
   256-263

10. Strengths-based Assessments and Recovery in Mental Health: Reflections from Practice
    Abraham Francis
    264-271

11. Health at Every Size: a Weight-neutral Approach for Empowerment, Resilience and Peace
    Lily O'Hara, Jane Taylor
    272-282

12. Health Promotion: A Critical Salutogenic Science
    Jane Taylor (Gregg), Lily O'Hara, Margaret Barnes
    283-290

13. Tackling Contemporary Challenges through Strengths based Approach in Social Work
    Sebastin K V
    291-295

14. Social Work and Diversional Therapy: Common Threads from a Strengths Perspective
    Margaret Helmer, Venkat Pulla, Elizabeth Carter
    296-302

15. Empowerment of Student Social Worker-Reading between the Lines
    Poonam Gulalia
    303-310

16. Social Work Education in India and Australia
    Rajendra Baikady, Venkat Pulla, Channaveer R.M
    311-318

17. Transboundary Trade of Second-hand Electrical and Electronic Equipment (EEE): Framed by the Resilience Concept
    Isabelle Amorim, Venkat Pulla
    319-324

BOOKS Received for Review

325-326
Subscription Information

Rate for Institutions Subscriptions
Sample copy subscription: 2 copies $105
Annual subscription fee: 6 issues $195
Each additional copy: $35 with annual subscription
Mode of Dispatch: Air Mail

Rate for Individual Subscriptions
Minimum subscription: 2 copies $75
Each additional copy: $30
Annual subscription fee: 6 issues $195
Mode of Dispatch: Air Mail

Rate for Editorial Board Members
Minimum subscription: 2 copies $60
Each additional copy: $30
Annual subscription fee: 6 issues $180
Mode of Dispatch: Air Mail

Rate for Individual Subscriptions (Developing Countries)
An individual reduced rate of 25% will be offered to subscribers from developing countries.
Mode of Dispatch: Air Mail

Mode of Subscriptions
Choose issues or the year which interest you from the archive and build the collection you want in the order.
Subscription queries can be directed to Kevin Nelson at review.hrpub@gmail.com

The archive at the Journal can be accessed from http://www.hrpub.org/journals/jour_archive.php?id=92

Information to Authors

International Journal of Social Work and Human Services Practice

This journal will resonate the themes of resilience and hope. Practitioners and academia will take the opportunity to present reflective thinking, innovations and advance a community of practice that features strengths based practices and narratives and research that informs, educates and celebrates the infinitesimal capacity of human coping, resilience and hope. Writings that are refreshingly new that celebrate ethical conduct, practice of human values, eco-social justice international security and peace and those that advance non-violent development alternatives in governance of our societies will be welcomed.

The International Journal of Social Work and Human Services Practice is published six times a year both in print and online forms. For Print form please enquire the costs for single copy as well as annual subscriptions. Academic institutions, libraries, researchers and Non-Government and government agencies may indicate the number of printed copies required to save on their postage and handling costs.

All submissions to the International Journal of Social Work and Human Services must follow APA 6 guidelines. Articles that are submitted in any other form other than APA 6 guidelines will be summarily rejected and will not be acknowledged. All articles are double blind peer reviewed.

International Journal of Social Work and Human Services Practice is under consideration for indexing in Thomson Reuters SSCI and Scopus
ISSN: 2332-6832 (Print) ISSN: 2332-6840 (Online)
Website: http://www.hrpub.org/journals/jour_info.php?id=92

Special issue Guidelines for International Journal of Social Work and Human Services Practice

The aim of publishing special issues such as April, 2014 on Poverty and Human Rights In Asia, and the current one on Community Empowerment, Coping, Resilience and Hope is to provide a themed opportunity for the researchers from all over the world to share their valuable work and will contribute to the dissemination of scientific knowledge.

Preparation for Special Issues: Proposals for Special Issues should include the following:(1) A concise and informative title for the special issue (no more than 25 words);(2) A description of the aims and scope for the special issue;(3) A brief editorial statement for the special issue;(4) A list of the guest editors including their names, emails, affiliations;(5) Suggested timeline for the special issue (submission deadline, review process, publication date etc.).The Call for Papers for an approved special issue will be posted online once everything has been confirmed.

Main Responsibilities of Guest Editors: Allocate newly submitted papers to reviewers; Record status of all papers including acceptance/rejection/revision and resubmission.

Main Responsibilities of Lead Guest Editor: Maintain the communication and coordination between the special issue editorial team and the Editor in Chief Dr Venkat Pulla and the Managing Editor Kevin Nelson, Finalize the Call for Papers and ensuring that all deadlines related with the publication of the special issue are followed.

Expression of your Interest:

There is no special format for this. Please use the preparatory guidelines as above and write to the Editor in Chief, Dr Venkat Pulla. Venkat.pulla@acu.edu.au; de.venkat.pulla@gmail.com
Guest Editorial

The last few decades have been witness to a world that is increasingly interconnected through the processes of globalization. Rapid improvements in communication technology and infrastructure have enabled much greater levels of interactions across the globe. They have also meant that the risks are also spread more across countries and peoples, with issues such as diseases, pollution, terrorism and political instability knowing no national boundaries. Further, traditional support systems that existed in the family and community are being weakened by global processes such as migration. In this context, concepts of community empowerment and resilience assume great significance and offer renewed hope to individuals and communities. They provide direction for constructive action and positive change at several levels of society including the micro, mezzo and the macro levels. In this issue of the journal, we have a unique range of articles that focus on different aspects of community empowerment, resilience and hope and provide insights on proven as well as new ways of working towards them. The Chief Editor Venkat Pulla announced this special edition last year with the central theme of Community Empowerment, Coping, Resilience and Hope.

This special edition around the Christmas of 2014 is a reminder for all of us about the message of the time, peace on earth for everyone. Briefly we will introduce the articles included in this special issue.

Rajeev M.M draws on research in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands off the coast of India that were severely impacted on by 2004 tsunami, to argue that community empowerment, through the active involvement of the affected communities, is critical to the success of pre and post disaster initiatives. The author makes a number of recommendations to build sustainability and community empowerment on the face of natural disasters. Joseph D’Souza and Siju Varghese in their paper also addresses an aspect of natural disaster, albeit a longer term one, that of drought. They focus on work with drought affected rural communities in one district of Maharashtra, India, to suggest that holistic and sustainable approaches such as Watershed Development offer opportunities for change that go far beyond the immediate goals of dealing with the issues of drought.

Narayan Gopalkrishnan, in the next paper, also points to the issues of disaster in the context of crisis, and makes the argument that crisis that can be blamed on human agency can lead to divisions in communities, and the transformation of hidden racism into overt actions and behaviours. The author goes on to delineate the conceptualisation of Culturally Dynamic Partnerships as a new way of working thorough this kind of crisis and building community resilience in the face of conflict. Vinita Pandey, while discussing similar contexts of conflict, excavates the location of community policing as a way of building community resilience and effectively managing conflict. In this paper, the author draws on empirical evidence to demonstrate the multilevel outcomes of adopting community policing as a strategy. Jamalludin Sulaiman takes the discussion of crisis to the global stage to suggest that economic growth has caused greater inequality in society and that the rapidly spreading notions of global public good would provide more sustainable solutions to development. He argues that Global Public Goods have the potential to mitigate even the bigger global distortions and inequalities.

Palani Thevar and Venkat Pulla also draw out the imbalances caused by economic arrangements, where their focus is on the funding arrangements of Non-Governmental Organisations. They argue that unfunded arrangements can be effective in terms of impacting on service delivery and they examine the example of a disability network in Australia to elucidate this argument. Kaushalendra Pratap Singh, in his article on social work with elderly people in rural communities in North India, investigates issues of the loss of quality of life among the elderly. He identifies the positive impacts of a multi-pronged approach in working with individuals and families in rural communities, and the role that social workers can play in this context. Rajeev S.P in his article, also emphasises the role of social workers in building the resilience of families and working towards positive change. He suggests that social work interventions that work towards building family resilience will also help towards building individual resilience. The following article, by Anita Rego, Neela Dabir, and Kamini Kapadia, draws our attention to another vulnerable section of society, the children living on the streets of India. They reach the conclusion that the outcomes of interventions with street children could be greatly improved by adopting a participatory evaluations framework based on standards and competencies in care.

Abraham Francis examines the work of social workers in the field of mental health assessment in the next paper. The author draws on two case studies to determine the relevance of strengths-based practice within a recovery practice framework and discusses some practice tips that would be useful to social workers interested in being effective recovery oriented practitioners. Addressing another aspect of health, Lily O’Hara and Jane Taylor excavate the dominant weight-centred health paradigm that creates an environment of weight stigma and fat hatred and marginalises people based on perceptions of obesity. They present a discussion of the Health At Every Size® approach as one that is strengths-based and empowers people to improve their health while building their coping capacity and reliance. The paper on health promotion by Jane Taylor, Lily O’Hara and Margaret Barnes continues the critique of the dominant biomedical and behavioural science paradigms. They argue that the complex nature of individual and environmental determinants needs a different approach to health, based on holism and sustainability, and that the relatively new area of health promotion provides just such an approach. Sebastin K. V., in the following paper, reiterates the importance of strengths-based approaches in the context of Social Work. Critiquing traditional problem-solving approaches, the author delineates the advantages of the adoption of strengths-based approaches and asserts that they have increasing significance in modern times. Margaret Helmer, Venkat Pulla and Elizabeth Carter explore the intersection between Diversional Therapy and Social Work practice and emphasise a number of common elements in both these areas of practice. They go on to make the argument that the adoption of a strengths-based approach in both these areas will help build resilience and encourage positive change.

A very interesting paper on how first world trade of second-hand electrical and electronic equipment (EEE) from the European Union is being dumped into the developing countries that threatens to humans and the environment in the developing world since most of the recipient countries lack an adequate system of recycling, while on the other hand it represents a considerable source of revenue to developing countries the authors, Isabelle Amorim and Venkat Pulla review this from a resilience perspective.

Much of the work that social workers do in the context of community empowerment and resilience begins through their education and application of theory to practice. The next paper by Poonam Gulalia examines the process of learning involved in the field placements of social work students, delineating a number of key elements that need to be integrated as part of placements towards empowering students and building their abilities to work constructively in society. Rajesh Baikady, Venkat Pulla and Channaveer R. M. The authors focus on social work education across two countries, Australia and India, and examine the commonalities as well as the differences across a range of areas. Through their analysis, they point to a number of opportunities for social work education in both countries.

The Above articles have been double blind peer reviewed. While there are a few more articles that fall into this theme, the authors could not resubmit the articles in time for this issue. Some of them will be published over a period of time.

We have been assisted in the blind peer review process by a number of colleagues in academia and in the fields of practice. Dr, Neelmani Jaysawal, Department of Social Work, Visva-Bharati, India, Leisha Townson, Private Practitioner and Researcher, Queensland, Australia, Dr. Keshav Walke, MSS Institute of Social Work, Nagpur, Dr. Venkat Pulla, Australian Catholic University, Australia, Dr. Abraham Francis James Cook University, Australia, Nompumelelo Thabethe, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa, Dr. Ndungi Mungai, Charles Sturt University, Australia, Prof. Tulshi Kumar Das, Department of Social Work, Shahjalal University of Science & Technology, Bangladesh, Bharath Bhushan Mamidi, Centre for Action Research & People's Development, India, Dr. Bala Raju Nikku, University of Science, Malaysia, Prof. Kanchana Lanzet German Development, Germany, Prof. Azlinda Azman, Universiti Sains Malaysia, Malaysia, Mr Ernst Leslie, RCUES, Osmania University, India, Prof. Radha Reddy Chada, Kasturba Gandhi Degree and PG College for Women, India, Prof. Ilango Ponnuwswami Department at Bharathidasan University, India, Dr. Rituparna Bhattacharyya Independent Researcher, Oxford, UK, Asst. Prof. Yolanda Ealdama, University of the Philippines, Philippines, Dr Deb Selway, Queensland University of Technology, Dr Deborah Graham, James Cook University, Dr Shawn Somerset, Australian Catholic University, Mr Christopher G Montgomery, Department of Communities, Government of Queensland, Australia, Jeanette Ninnis, Service for the Treatment and Rehabilitation of Torture and Trauma Survivors, Wagga Wagga, Australia, Dr Sebastin, K.V. Roshni Nilaya, School of Social Work, Mangalore, India, Dr Vinita Pande, Osmania University, India, Mr Subhash Chandra Mamidi, Carped.org India, Jennifer Woods, Charles Sturt University, Australia, Richard Hill, Mental health Academy, Sydney Australia, and Dr Venkat Pulla, Australian Catholic University.

This process was long and arduous, that has made us inadvertently lose track of who else helped us out. We wish to especially thank Mr Kevin Nelson for managing several drafts in time and for speeding up the print version for December much before the Christmas of 2014.

Dr Narayan Gopalkrishnan
Course Coordinator, Social Work and Human Services
Fellow, The Cairns Institute
School of Arts and Social Sciences
James Cook University, PO Box 6811, Cairns QLD 4870 AUSTRALIA
Email: narayan.gopalkrishnan@jcu.edu.au
Books Received for Review

Empathy: A Handbook for Revolution

Roman Krznaric

Influential popular philosopher Roman Krznaric argues our brains are wired for social connection: empathy is at the heart of who we are. It’s an essential, transforming quality we must develop for the 21 Century.

Through encounters with actors, activists, groundbreaking designers, undercover journalists, nurses, bankers and neuroscientists, Krznaric defines a new breed of adventurer. He sets out the six life-enhancing habits of highly empathic people, whose skills enable them to connect with others in extraordinary ways.

Empathy has the power to transform relationships, from the personal to the political. In this way it will be key to fundamental social change – making this book a manifesto for revolution.

Empathy: A Handbook for Revolution
by Roman Krznaric
Paperback: £12.99
ISBN 978-1-846-046-04384-0
Orders from http://www.romankrznaric.com/empathy-a-handbook-for-revolution
Published by Random House Group Company, 2014, U.K.

Handbook of Family Resilience

Dorothy S, Becvar

In a time of increasing stressors affecting the lives of so many, resilience—the capacity for individuals to cope, adapt, survive, and thrive despite severe crises and long odds—is a hot topic. Now resilience as both a family trait and a family process is being recognized as equally deserving of study, especially as more families find themselves under greater social and economic strain.

The Handbook of Family Resilience offers scholarly and practical perspectives on how resilient families adapt and adjust, for those seeking a deeper understanding of the concept as well as clinicians working hands-on with families. Resilience is seen as an evolving process over the lifespan as family members support one another, marshal their resources (internal and external), and maintain their functioning through normative, extraordinary, and multiple stressors. Contributors examine resilience across a diverse range of family structures, cultural groups, and challenging circumstances, with an array of timely topics including:

- Clinical ramifications of a focus on family resilience.
- Family resilience in the context of high-risk situations.
- Resilience in ethnic family systems.
- Enhancing resilience in families of children with autistic spectrum disorder.
- From challenge to wisdom: Resilience in aging.

Handbook of Resilience in Children of War

Chandi Fernando and Michael Ferrari

Their frightened, angry faces are grim reminders of the reach of war. They are millions of children, orphaned, displaced, forced to flee - or to fight. And just as they have myriad possibilities for trauma, their lives also hold great potential for recovery.

The Handbook of Resilience in Children of War explores these critical phenomena at the theoretical, research, and treatment levels, beginning with the psychosocial effects of exposure to war. Narratives of young people's lives in war zones as diverse as Afghanistan, Sri Lanka, Columbia, and Sudan reveal the complexities of their experiences and the meanings they attach to them, providing valuable keys to their rehabilitation. Other chapters identify strengths and limitations of current interventions and of constructs of resilience as applied to youth affected by war.

Throughout this cutting-edge volume, the emphasis is on improving the field through more relevant research and accurate, evidence-based interventions, in such areas as:

- An ecological resilience approach to promoting mental health in children of war.
- Child soldiers and the myth of the ticking time bomb.
- The Child Friendly Spaces postwar intervention program.
- The role of education for war-zone immigrant and refugee students.
- Political violence, identity, and adjustment in children.

The Handbook of Resilience in Children of War is essential reading for researchers, scientist-practitioners, and graduate students in diverse fields including clinical child, school, and developmental psychology; child and adolescent psychiatry; social work; counseling; education; and allied medical and public health disciplines.

RD Audit: Evaluating the Human Resource Function for Business for Business Improvement Second Edition

T Venkateswara Rao, T.

HRD Audit presents the first-ever comprehensive approach to evaluating and re-designing human resource development (HRD) function and interventions, and maximising their contribution to business goals and human capital formation. A unique feature of the book is the HDR Score Card approach that organisation can use to assess and benchmark their level of HRD and its alignment with business thereafter.

Peaceland: Conflict Resolution and the Everyday Politics of International Intervention

Séverine Autesserre

This book suggests a new explanation for why international peace interventions often fail to reach their full potential. Based on several years of ethnographic research in conflict zones around the world, it demonstrates that everyday elements - such as the expatriates' social habits and usual approaches to understanding their areas of operation - strongly influence peacebuilding effectiveness. Individuals from all over the world and all walks of life share numerous practices, habits, and narratives when they serve as interveners in conflict zones. These common attitudes and actions enable foreign peacebuilders to function in the field, but they also result in unintended consequences that thwart international efforts. Certain expatriates follow alternative modes of thinking and acting, often with notable results, but they remain in the minority. Through an in-depth analysis of the interveners' everyday life and work, this book proposes innovative ways to better help host populations build a sustainable peace.

• Provides a new explanation for the variable effectiveness of international efforts
• Offers policy makers and practitioners tools and ideas with which to improve peacebuilding efforts
• As opposed to conventional peacebuilding analyses, it looks at intervention efforts from the bottom up rather than from the top down

The Power of 360 Degree Feedback: Second Edition

Venkateswara Rao, T. and Raju Rao

360 Degree Feedback, or multi-rater feedback, is an established HR methodology used in organizations across the world. This book presents in-depth details about the process of developing managers into leaders and outlines methodologies for designing and using a 360 Degree Programme for managers at all levels. This second edition draws extensively from the authors’ own experiences in the last decade since the first edition was published.

The book also includes research done using over 8,000 top-level managers whose leadership roles and qualities were profiled using the authors’ Roles, Styles, Delegation and Qualities (RSDQ) model. Lessons from their stories and practices of some of the HR award–winning organizations are presented in this edition. The book also presents a section on the various tools of 360 Degree Feedback for a variety of groups. It is hoped that this edition will give an update of the 360 Degree Feedback the Indian way.

The Power of 360 Degree Feedback Second Edition

by Venkateswara Rao, T. and Raju Rao

Paperback: Rs 525.00
SAGE Publications India Pvt Ltd, 2014
Orders from http://www.sagepub.in/books/Book244197#tabview=title
Publication Ethics and Malpractice Statement

By submitting an article to the International Journal of Social Work and Human Services Practice (IJSWHS), as an author you agree to comply with the following Publication Ethics and Malpractice Statement.

Duties / Responsibilities of Authors

1. All manuscripts must be the original work of authors and not evidence plagiarism.
2. Authorship of a manuscript should be limited to authors who have made significant contributions.
3. Authors must submit the original manuscript to the IJSWHS.
4. Authors must properly and accurately acknowledge the work of others.
5. Authors should disclose any financial or other substantive conflict of interest that might influence the results or interpretation of their manuscript and acknowledge individuals or organizations that have provided financial support for research.
6. Authors may be asked to provide the raw data in connection with manuscripts for editorial review, and should prepare to provide public access to such data if possible.

Duties / Responsibilities of Editor in Chief and Editorial Board Members

1. Editor in Chief or the assigned editorial board members from time to time are responsible for making decisions on size and content of the manuscripts submitted to the journal.
2. The journal utilizes a double blind peer review process and the decisions made by the Editor in Chief are final.
3. The Editor in Chief and members of the Editorial board ensure the integrity of the publication review process by not revealing either the identity of authors of manuscripts to the reviewers, or the identity of reviewers to authors.
4. The members of the Editorial Board receive all manuscripts for review in confidence and do not disclose any information about submitted manuscripts to anyone other than the corresponding author, reviewers, other external referees sought from time to time and the publisher.
5. None of the editorial board members must not use materials disclosed in a submitted manuscript (published or unpublished) for their own research without the author’s written authorization.
6. Editors shall conduct proper and fair investigation into ethical complaints.
7. The IJSWHS is an academic journal mainly representing the professions of social work and human services. The editors subscribe to their respective professional ethics and currently the Editor in Chief is an accredited Member of the Australian Association of Social Workers.

Responsibility of Reviewers

1. Reviewers keep all information regarding papers confidential and treat them as privileged information.
2. Reviewers conduct their business of review objectively, with no personal criticism of the author.
3. Reviewers should express their views clearly with supporting arguments that will constructively guide the editorial decision by the Editor in Chief or his or her nominee.
4. Reviewers should complete their reviews within the Journal stipulated timeframe.
5. Reviewers should not review manuscripts in which they have conflicts of interest resulting from competitive, collaborative, or other relationships or connections with any of the authors, companies, or institutions connected to the papers.

Authors Signed Statement

All authors of single or multiple authored manuscripts must additionally sign the following declaration to the IJSWHS addressing the Editor in Chief

Thank you for accepting my/our paper titled (insert the title here in italics) for publication in your esteemed journal. I/We hereby confirm that the above-mentioned manuscript has not been submitted to any other journal(s) or has been considered for publication in other journals. No copyrighted materials have been used in the manuscript without permission. I/We also confirm that the manuscript is free from plagiarism and has not been published previously. I/We will take the full responsibility for the opinion expressed in the paper and for settling in all disputes arising from using any copyrighted materials in the manuscript without proper permission. I/We agree that the editor(s) of IJSWHS may edit and format the above-mentioned manuscript and decide its date of publication.

With sincere regards.

[PRINT NAME(S)]

Signed by the author and by her/his co-author(s) (may sign on separate form(s) if necessary)
Guest Editorial

Articles:

Sustainability and Community Empowerment in Disaster Management
Rajeev. M.M 207-212

From Individual Empowerment to Social Movement: Drought Management for Ecological Restoration
Fr. Joseph, D'Souza SJ, Fr. Siju Varghese SJ 213-219

Building Resilient Communities through Culturally Dynamic Partnerships
Narayan Gopalkrishnan 220-227

Community Policing for Conflict Resolution and Community Resilience
Vinita Pandey 228-233

The Global Public Good and the Opportunity Cost: Is There a Choice for the Marginalised? Hope?
Jamalludin Sulaiman 234-238

Building Effective Outcomes within the Community – Case Study in the Field of Disabilities
Palani Thevar, Venkat Pulla 239-243

Social Work with the Elderly: A Rural Study
Kausalendra Pratap Singh 244-249

Building Family Resilience - A Social Work Approach
Rajeev S P, Diston Kunjachan 250-255

Locating Spaces for Standards and Competencies in Care: Evaluating Child Care and Protection Services
Anita Rego, Neela Dabir, Kamini Kapadia 256-263

Strengths-based Assessments and Recovery in Mental Health: Reflections from Practice
Abraham Francis 264-271

Health at Every Size: a Weight-neutral Approach for Empowerment, Resilience and Peace
Lily O’Hara, Jane Taylor 272-282

Health Promotion: A Critical Salutogenic Science
Jane Taylor (Gregg), Lily O’Hara, Margaret Barnes 283-290

Tackling Contemporary Challenges through Strengths based Approach in Social Work
Sebastin K V 291-295

Social Work and Diversional Therapy: Common Threads from a Strengths Perspective
Margaret Helmer, Venkat Pulla, Elizabeth Carter 296-302

Empowerment of Student Social Worker-Reading between the Lines
Poonam Gulalia 303-310

Social Work Education in India and Australia
Rajendra Baikady, Venkat Pulla, Channaveer R.M 311-318

Transboundary Trade of Second-hand Electrical and Electronic Equipment (EEE): Framed by the Resilience Concept
Isabelle Amorim, Venkat Pulla 319-324

Books Received for Review

International Journal of Social Work and Human Services Practice ISSN: 2332-6832 (Print) ISSN: 2332-6840 (Online)

This journal will resonate the themes of resilience and hope. Practitioners and academia will take the opportunity to present reflective thinking, innovations and advance a community of practice that features strengths based practices and narratives and research that informs, educates and celebrates the infinitesimal capacity of human coping, resilience and hope. Writings that are refreshingly new that celebrate ethical conduct, practice of human values, eco-social justice international security and peace and those that advance non-violent development alternatives in governance of our societies will be welcomed.

The International Journal of Social Work and Human Services Practice is published six times a year both in print and online forms. For Print form please enquire the costs for single copy as well as annual subscriptions. Academic institutions, libraries, researchers and Non-Government and government agencies may indicate the number of printed copies required to save on their postage and handling costs.

All submissions to the International Journal of Social work and Human Services must follow APA 6 guidelines. Articles that are submitted in any other form other than APA 6 guidelines will be summarily rejected and will not be acknowledged. All articles are double blind peer reviewed. This journal is under consideration for indexing in Thomson Reuters SSCI and Scopus.

Website: http://www.hrpub.org/journals/jour_info.php?id=92